CHINA READY FOR JAPAN.

The Chinese Squadron Are Waiting for the Japanese to Come Out.

Two Days' Fighting Reported at Kai Chen Without a Decision.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Within two weeks the distribution of warships now attached to the home station for service abroad begins by the departure of the cruiser Machias from New York for China, to assist our fleet now there in looking after American interests in Corea. The Machias has been ordered to prepare for sea at once and is expected to get off the latter part of the month. The Machias will convey to the Vatican relics, which have been in the custody of the state department since the close of the Chicago fair, direct to Rome under escort. They will be turned over to the Pope's representatives. From Rome the Machias proceeds through the Suez canal to Yokohama, where she will report to Admiral Carpenter, commanding the station.

London, Sept. 13.—A Shanghai dispatch says three Chinese warships ordered to strengthen the Pi Yang fleet, have arrived at Wei-Hai-Wei. The fleet has also been reinforced by torpedo boats. The whole northern squadron is now ready to meet the Japanese fleet should it appear in the Gulf of Pechili. Another Shanghai dispatch states that it is reported that there has been two days' fighting near Kai Chen in which neither side gained an advantage. The Kinin division of the Chinese army has crossed the Keilin river and occupied Shu King where it will await the advance of the main army before attacking the Japanese right.

London, Sept. 13.—A Shanghai dispatch says 24,000 troops from the provinces of Chi-Li and Lian Kiang have been ordered to the defence of Tientsin to guard against the possible invasion by the Japanese.

TARRED AND FEATHERED.

A Reverend Offender Rather Severely Dealt With.

Hillsadel, Mich., Sept. 13.—Word was received here yesterday afternoon that at Frontier, this county, Tuesday night Rev. Charles Clancey was tarred and feathered. Mr. Clancey was, until a year ago, pastor of the Methodist church there, but had trouble and started a church of his own with a score of members. Tuesday night forty masked men, among them husbands of the women of his flock, called him from his house and literally covered him with a coat of tar, dusted him with feathers and then rolled him down a steep hill. Then they warned him that he would receive another dose as soon as he had shed his feathers if he did not get out of town.

STARVED TO DEATH.

Camden, N. J., Sept. 13.—Mrs. Kate Massey, her three-year-old child and her infant were found starving yesterday in their humble house in Westminster avenue, Stockton, near Camden. A month ago Mrs. Massey's husband died while undergoing an operation in a Philadelphia hospital and two weeks later Mrs. Massey gave birth to a child. She was left destitute but she would not ask for aid and her neighbors did not know her condition until yesterday, when an overseer of the poor, John Renner, visited her house and found her and her children apparently dying. Mr. Renner immediately summoned Dr. O. L. Greembrecht, but the doctor said the woman and the children were too exhausted to recover, but he took them in hand immediately. The infant died soon afterwards. Its death was intirely due to lack of nourishment. Mrs. Massey can live but a few days at the furthest and the other child is very low. The mother had starved herself and given the trifling [illegible]

RESENT INTERFERENCE.

Alabama Press Association Resent English Interference re Lynching.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 13.—The following resolutions were introduced by Editor Robert L. Lee, of Selma, at the session of the Alabama Press Association here yesterday and was unanimously referred to the committee on resolutions. "Whereas, actuated by motives known only to themselves, and intent upon a mission at vaiance with custom, a committee of Englishmen is said to have arrived in this country for the alleged purpose of investigating and denouncing the so-called southern lynchings; therefore, be it resolved by the Alabama Press Association that we look upon their coming as hypocritical and meddlesome; that knowing as we do the wilful ignorance and prejudice as to American organic law and customs of the people and press the visitors claim to represent; and knowing the responsible sources from which their alleged information is derived, we denounce their object and interference in our affairs as unjustifiable either by cicumstances or precedent; be it futher resolved that in view of the recent Whitechapel horrors, Jack-the-Ripper slashings and famous Maybrick trial, we recall to the gentlemen from England the scriptural injunction, 'Remove thou first the beam from out thine own eye and then thou canst see clearly to take the mote from out thy brother's eye." Be it also resolved that while the association deplores the taking of the law into their own hands by justly incensed communities and pledges its earnest efforts in behalf of a speedy trial, that even-handed justice may be meted out to the rapist fiend, yet we resent the attempt of a 'holier than thou' committee from a foreign land to teach us morality and justice." The resolution will be favorably reported by the committee and will be adopted by the convention to-morrow.

APPLIED FOR A DIVORCE.

Outcome of the Turner-Jamieson Elopement.

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—A divorce suit was begun yesterday by Attorney L. E. Phillips, who has filed a complaint against Mrs. Lulu Gertrude Jamieson charging desertion, and asking in the name of Laughlin P. Jamieson for a dissolution of the matrimonial bonds which had existed since February 7th, 1885. The suit is the outcome of the elopement of Arthur Turner with Mrs. Jamieson from Victoria in July, 1893, when the deserted husband unsuccessfully pursued his wife and her lover over all manner of roads about San Francisco with the avowed intention of killing the man and regaining the woman.

DIED.

The funeral will leave the house at 2 p. m., Friday, the 14th instant. Friends will please accept this intimation.

CABLE DISPATCHES.

Crispi's Position Regarding the King and the Pope.

Paris, Sept. 13.—A Rome dispatch to Le Temps says Crispi denies that he is making overtures for a reconciliation between the king and the Pope.

Madrid, Sept. 13.—A hurricane on the southwestern coast of Spain wrecked many small vessels, and partly destroyed the town of Gata.

Swinemunde, Prussia, Sept. 13.—The Emperor to-day reviewed the German war vessels in the harbor. He was greeted by salutes. Thousands witnessed the review.

TRYING TO BURN MERCED.

Merced, Cal., Sept. 13.—Another bunch of phosporous was found in sheds back of Charles S. Tearing's stable. The fire was checked in time. Phosphorus has been found in nearly every stable in the town, placed in the hay. Fresh fires are breaking out every few minutes, all from the same cause. Lynching is talked of should the culprits be found. There is great excitement. An alarm from the seventh fire since daylight this morning was sounded at 11:25 a.m. The single fire engine the city boasts of, dragged by exhausted men, scarcely reaches one fire until another alarm is given from some distant part of the town. The schools are dismissed for the safety of the children, and the townspeople are awe-stricken and frantic over the mysterious fires. Sheriff Warfield has issued the following notice: "All persons without business in the town of Merced are notified to leave immediately. All good citizens are requested to co-operate and see that this order is carried out before sunset."

RACED FROM LIVERPOOL.

Remarkably Fast Trip of the Ship Shenandoah.

San Francisco, Sept. 12.—A long race from Liverpool to San Francisco has been ended by the arrival of the American ship Shenandoah. She left the English port 118 days ago and five days later than the British ship California with which she was racing. The two ships were in company on June 22, but the Shenandoah gradually drew away from her companion. Captain Murphy reports that he had many vexatious calms and light winds or he would have made his remarkably short trip shorter. The Shenandoah beat the Crown of Scotland, out 160 days, and the Maria Accame, 173 days from the same port.

The United States steamer Adams arrived from New Whatcom late last night and the Richard Rush came in from Astoria this morning.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Unusual Condition of a Victim of the Deadly Fluid.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 13.—After being practically dead for 85 hours, through being struck by lightning, Lewis Schooling was really decided to be dead at his home, No. 1528 North Fifth street, yesterday morning. Schooling became alarmed at the terrific storm last Saturday and went out to a morrocco works just in the rear of his home and of which he was superintendent. While he was gone two terrific electric bolts shot out of the sky. One of them struck a wooden mill opposite, and sent a wall crashing down. The other probably struck the lightning rod of the morrocco works which came down the conductor and caught the big bunch of keys which Schooling held. He staggered to the door and fell in the kitchen. His wife aroused by the noise, hastened to him. He seemed to smile and got up and walked, but sat down quickly and never uttered a sound. He soon lapsed into a state of coma and though physicians worked with him every hour he never showed a sign of consciousness, and it was decided that he was dead.

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—The Canada Gazette of Saturday next will contain a notice of application for Sergeant Monarshier of the Northwest Mounted Police, for divorce from his wife, Mary, a Blood Indian woman, now living on an Indian reserve in the Northwest Territories. It is based on the usual ground, that of desertion.

NANAIMO'S WELCOME.

A Great Meeting Charmed With the Eloquence of Mr. Laurier and Mr. Fraser.

The Liberal leader's journey westward, which has been like one grand triumphal march, was terminated yesterday at Nanaimo, and the return route commenced. Nanaimo did herself honor in her welcome of the chieftain, who was by one and all received with that affectionate respect and honor which have been characteristic features of the welcomes everywhere accorded him on his tour.

A deputation of the Nanaimo Reform club met the party on the arrival of the Victoria train and escorted them in carriages to the Wilson hotel, where an informal luncheon was partaken of. Mr. Laurier and his friends then spent an hour or two chatting, after which a visit was paid to the mines at Wellington. Fearing that many of the people of that section would not be able to attend the public meeting at Nanaimo in the evening, it was decided to spend some little time there making acquaintances and both imparting and seeking information. Many old friends were found among the miners who were anxious to see and shake hands with Mr. Laurier, who was kept busy and interested answering and asking questions.

Despite the want of notice, a first class meeting was held, a large number of miners turning out to listen to the few words which the leader had to say. Had each person in the meeting been specially chosen, there could not have been gotten together a gathering more thoroughly in sympathy with the views of the Liberal party. Mr. Laurier scored point after point, which was met with a substantial endorsement from those present, who evinced their assent to the statements with decisiveness and force. A confirmed Conservative, bent on asking questions, not only created a good deal of amusement, but was the means of further cementing the leader in the hearts of those present. Mr. Laurier and Mr. Fraser were the only speakers at Wellington, but in their short addresses they brought facts to the knowledge of the men that were revelations to them. Mr. Laurier won his way at once to the confidence of the people, but Mr. Fraser, speaking as a man born and brought up in a mining country, was perfectly at home, and placed hard realities before those horny-handed miners, many of whom had never dreamt that either free trade or protection affected them so long as they received the wages agreed upon. From practical illustrations he showed them that whatever added to the cost of necessaries made so much less for the working man. For instance, if a man has $100 to spend on work, but has to purchase $50 worth of materials, there are $50 left to pay the men. Now, if he has to pay $10 extra by way of duty that leaves only $40 to be divided among the men. Would they not rather have the benefit of that $50 instead of $40? (Yes.)

After the meeting Mr. Laurier grasped many a hard hand, which shook his with a warmth which was a silent expression of what will be done when the proper time arrives.

NANAIMO'S GREAT GREETING.

The scene in the opera house at Nanaimo in the evening was one to be remembered. The building was literally packed, a large representation of ladies being present. On the rising of the curtain a great cheer burst from the vast audience as from one pair of lungs, as the leader appeared on the stage, and the applause was continued for several moments.

Mr. McInnes, who ably occupied the chair, presented the following address:

To Honorable Wilfrid Laurier:—We, the officers and members of the Nanaimo Reform Club, desire to extend to yourself and your distinguished colleagues our most heartfelt welcome to the City of Nanaimo. There was a time, sir, when the people of British Columbia, felt to a large extent, isolated from the [illegible] when the word Canada had a foreign sound, and when a visit from a Canadian statesmen was unknown. But that time is happily past, we now feel our province to be an integral part of Canada and we feel proud to think that while it is the youngest, least populated and most remote from the seat of government, it yet contributes as you are aware more per capita to Dominion revenues than any other province. For that reason while we deem it an honor to receive the personal attention of the leader of the Canadian Liberal party we look upon it as no less our due. For there are matters of local importance needing reform, development or assistance that can in no way be brought to your attention so well as by a personal visit from you. For this we welcome you and hope that your first visit amongst us will not be your last. But we welcome you more sir as the advocate of tariff reform, as the exponent of freer trade, as the man in whom to a large extent is centred our hopes of a more prosperous era. For we are assured sir that your advent to power and the carrying into effect of your avowed policy will cause a revival of trade, an awakening of industry and development of natural resources such as we can never look for under the regime of a government committed to a policy of a high protective tariff. We trust that tariff for the protection of monopoly has had its day, that your policy of tariff for revenue only will be the national policy of the future, and that when the Canadian people have pronounced in favor of such a policy no intrigues of the Red Parlor and no application of the Reptile Fund will

EUROPEAN GOSSIP.

Near Approach to Reconciliation Between the King of Italy and the Pope.

Ill Health of the Czar and Other Members of Russian Imperial Family.

London, Sept. 12.—Under the caption of "Pons Pontificis" the Pall Mall Gazette prints an article with the object of showing that Premier Crispi is rapidly approaching a reconciliation between the king and the pope. Last Thursday, the article says, Sig. Crispi's private secretary had a long interview with Cardinal Rampolla, the former being the highest Italian official who has visited the vatican since 1870. The visit, the Gazette says, began a series of negotiations, the results of which are shown in the pope's prompt establishment of an apostolic prefecture in Massowah, immediately following which King Humbert gave his assent to the office of Patriarch of Venice, concerning which appointment there has been a prolonged disagreement between the vatican and quirinal. The most significant incident of all, however, is the act of Sig. Crispi in going out of his way, in his speech at Naples yesterday, to compliment Cardinal San Felice, archbishop of Naples, and to summon the church and the state to join their forces against the common enemy. The presence of Cardinal San Felice on the platform, says the Gazette, betokened the willingness of the pope to come to terms.

Rumors concerning the condition of the czar's health have been in circulation for some months. Nothing was said about his majesty's appearance on the occasion of the recent marriage of his daughter, the grand duchess Xenia, but a few days later at the launch of an [illegible] he was reported to be looking pale, worn and thin. Soon it was announced that the czar was going to the Bjelbshk forest and to Spala for a period of uninterrupted rest to recruit his strength, which was suffering from the effects of overwork. The statement was made on the authority of Prof. Zakharin, the emperor's private physician. The health of the czarowitz also is far from being satisfactory and this has been one of the reasons why his marriage to Princess Alix of Hesse, which was originally fixed for August 3, was postponed to September 20 and now has been again put off without a new date being fixed. The Grand Duke George, the second son of the czar, has long been an invalid and on several occasions his life was despaired of. After spending the winter on the Riveria he was sent to the Caucasus where he has resided for the past two years but it is reported that his health has not been greatly benefited. He is suffering with lung trouble and his case is believed to be incurable. As it was decided by his physician that the climate of St. Petersburg was unsuited to his complaint his return there at this season of the year is very significant. He is 23 years old. Besides the czarowitz and the Grand Duke George, the czar has one other son, the Grand Duke Michael, who was born in 1878.

The Allan line people have a letter in the Times denying the reflections cast upon their enterprise by Lord Brassey in his letter of August 8. Canada originally subsidized their steamers, they say, but when for motives of safety they lengthened the passage the government reduced the subsidy. "When the service ceased to pay," says the letter, "the government refused any advance, even at the risk of the abandonment of the service. The only condition of advance was a number of new steamers of the costliest type. For such steamers the subsidy was only a drop in the bucket towards our expenditures. For nearly ten years we had hanging over our heads this demand of Canada, which we could not meet, and which hindered our giving a better service. The craving for the impracticable, in part, has hindered the development of the Canadian trade. The best is being made of such natural advantages as the St. Lawrence possesses." The Allans remind Lord Brassey, in alluding to the Bruce-Douglass scheme of 1891, that he finally wrote to them that he and his colleagues were convinced of the necessity of direct support being given by the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk railways.

The Standard's Paris correspondent telegraphs: "The new Panama canal share are for 100 francs each. Some 300,000 shares will be offered to the public. If the amount be not wholly subscribed, provision will be made with funds in the hands of the liquidator. It is estimated that the present issue of 650,000 shares will suffice to carry on the work for at least eighteen months. The terms of subscription for the new shares are 25 francs on application and 25 more on October 15, the remainder to be paid in later installments.

The Berlin correspondent of the Times comments on an article in the Vienna Politische Correspondenz, which advocates the dual control of Samoa by England and Germany. He says: "This article is believed in Berlin to reflect the English official view, but Germany does not favor it. There is no doubt that every arrangement is impossible except a German protectorate. It is only a question of time to achieve this.'

The French government will add four warships to the French squadron in the Indian ocean. It is reported that an expedition, 5,000 strong, is to march on Antananarivo, the capital of Madagascar, by a route already planned.

A dispatch from Lemberg says that at the imperial banquet the Emperor Franz Joseph proposed the toast of his "dear friend, the czar." The toast was loudly cheered. The emperor has returned to Vienna.

"Ouida," (Louisa de la Ramee) the well known novelist, has written a long letter to Truth making a virulent attack upon Signor Crispi, the Italian prime minister, for his treatment of political prisoners. The letter deals chiefly with the case of Quiseppe de Felice Gaffrida, who was recently sentenced to a long term of imprisonment for the part he took in the socialistic troubles in Sicily. Ouida says that this prisoner is the one Signor Crispi most dreads, and therefore persecutes the worst. He is confined in a cell, the dimensions of which are three by five metres, in the fortress at Volterne. He is doomed for three years' solitary confinement, after which he will have to serve a score of years at hard labor, working in total silence. Ouida thus describes Signor Crispi: "Englishmen should abhor the actions, public and private, of this turn-coat, this red revolutionist who has become an opportunist, a reactionist. Crispi has the suppleness, insincerity and cunning of an Italian lawyer. He has also the harshness and passion for persecution, vindictiveness and the overwhelming vanity of a politician who knows that he has foresworn every principle to which he was wedded and who his climbed up by the credulity of those he serves to the highest position in the state.

The Standard's Rome correspondent telegraphs: "Premier Crispi's allusions to Cardinals San Felice is regarded as a sign of his tendency toward the policy of conciliating the vatican. His friends regard the speech as his chef d'ouvre, but the clerical journals are unamiable and inclined to ridicule his return to the faith. The Standard editorially will say: 'Premier Crispi is aware of Italy's difficulty and the pope's amiability to France, hence he is more anxious for a reconciliation than before. But this will render the vatican only more exacting.' "

The old fashioned "chignons" of heavy head dress of false hair, which was all the rage among the feminine community in the fifties and sixties, have again come into style, and the artificial hair dealers, whose trade has been languishing for years, are delighted with the prospect of being once more in clover. The re-introduction of the fashion is placed to the credit of the Princess of Wales, whose back hair has been getting remarkably thin of late, and as a result of this she is determined to revert to a style prevailing at the time of her marriage thirty years ago. The nobility and aristocracy have lost no time in falling into line, and almost daily for the past few weeks the streets outside the lady hair dressers' have been blocked for hours daily by swell equipages. Queen Victoria, who has always had a weakness for this style of hair dressing, looks upon the style with favor, and the next issue of the Court Gazette will announce that "chignons" will be de rigner at all future drawing room levees and other court functions.

The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says that the Duke of Orleans will live in London, where a royal committee has been formed. The duke has accepted the resignation of the Count of Haussonville as official representative of the Orleans family in France. He intends to surround himself with younger and more active partisans.

The Standard's Vienna correspondent telegraphs that the Emperor Franz Joseph was in Vienna yesterday afternoon and drove out to Schienbrunn, when he was stopped by a young man holding out a petition. The Emperor was startled, but he took the paper. The youth was arrested. He said that he was a clerk 21 years old, belonging to Loeberg. He had a grievance against the authorities. It is not believed that he intended an attempt on the Emperor's life. The Daily Chronicle says that 21 Ruchenian Samarists have geen arrested in Tarnapol, Galacia, for having formed a treasonable conspiracy during Emperor Franz Joseph's visit to Lemberg.

The chief feature of the east Prussian manoeuvres in the neighborhood of Schlobitten to-day was the work of the cavalry under the personal command of the emperor. The emperor summoned to him the commanders of the First and Seventeenth corps, delivered his critique and announced numerous promotions and decorations. Later he reviewed the cavalry, which passed first at a trot and then at a gallop. When the emperor dismounted in the castle courtyard at 5:30 he had been twelve hours in the saddle. He entertained a large party at dinner from 7 to 8:30, and at 9 o'clock started for Swinemunde, where a great naval review is to be held.

James Anthony Froude, the historian, is ill.

The annual Papal Encyclical on the Rosary was issued to-day. In it the pope refers indirectly to Zola's "Lourdes" by urging devotion to the Rosary as "more needful than ever since the faith in the Virgin Mary has been brought into derision by the impious."

Sir Frank Smith and Colonel Mason were seriously injured in a runaway in Toronto.

In all that goes to strengthen and build up the system weakened by disease and pain, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the superior medicine. It neutralizes the poisons left in the system after diphtheria and scarlet fever, and restores the debilitated patient to perfect health and vigor.

Bay City, Mich., Sept. 12.—The annual convention of the State Bankers' Association opened here to-day. The attendance is larger than usual, owing to the presence of Comptroller of the Currency J. H. Eckels, and who will deliver an address this afternoon or to-morrow.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 12.—The Republican state convention was called to order at the Broadway theatre at noon by Hon. J. Irving Hobbart. Since the nomination of Governor Waite by the Populists for another term, a full straight Republican ticket has been regarded as a necessity. The Republicans regard the conditions throughout the state at present as presaging a walkover. State Chairman Irving Horbart is the leading candidate for the gubernatorial nomination.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 12.—Appropriate exercises in honor of the transfer of Fort McHenry from the state of Maryland to the United States government were held to-day under the auspices of the Baltimore Society of the war of 1812. The building of the fort was begun in the early days of the revolution and in 1794, when another war with Breat Britain seemed probable it was transferred from the state to the national government. In 1814 it defended Baltimore from the British guns and furnished the inspiration for the grand strains of the "Star Spangled Banner."

LABOR LEGISLATION.

President's Address—He Advises Increased Organization Among Workers.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Ottawa, Sept. 5.—The tenth annual session of the trades and labor congress of Canada opened here yesterday. So far the enthusiasm manifested over this parliament of labor this year has not been nearly so marked as was the case when the congress met here a few years ago. On that occasion we had representatives from the Pacific coast, who took an energetic and active part in the work of the meeting. But although the meeting now going on has caused no great stir or excitement in the city, still it must not be understood that the work on hand is not as important as ever nor that the delegates who have engaged to do this work are not as willing and as desirous of seeing it accomplished as any in the past. There are those at this year's meeting of congress who have grown gray in the service of labor. For instance there is D. J. O'Donoghue, from Toronto, who exactly 20 years ago was elected in this city to the legislature as a labor candidate. He is still fighting in the ranks, and is this year one of the most active delegates to the congress. I might mention others, but at this moment Mr. O'Donoghue's name comes most forcibly to my mind because he was associated with the same newspaper in this city on which I was a reporter at the time of his election. "Dan" was a good printer and could make a good speech. Messrs. McLean & Rogers owned the newspaper to which I refer, the Ottawa Times, which some years afterwards was sold to the Tory party and very soon became defunct. Tory literature does not survive long without good nourishment in the way of government subsidies. The gentleman who owned the Times at the time of its decease could not get any government aid because Mr. Mackenzie was in power, but he was afterwards rewarded when Sir John got back to power, and to-day has a lucrative position on the staff of the house of commons. As long as the Tories hold the purse strings of the Dominion they are mighty liberal with the contents of the pocket book. But returning to the congress meeting, in the first place let it be said that the delegates got a royal welcome to the city. Mayor Cox on behalf of the citizens addressed the delegates and welcomed them to the city. They got the use of the council chamber for their meetings.

The proceedings of the forenoon yesterday were devoted to business of a formal character, outside the address of the mayor and the reply of President George T. Beales.

In the afternoon the president delivered his annual address to the congress. It was short but emphatic on the points to which it referred. After a few introductory sentences it, for instance, says: "Particularly in these most trying times of depression it is necessary that we devote our minds to an intelligent consideration of the causes that has led to the very undesirable and far spread distress and misery at present existing in our midst and existing to a greater extent among our brothers to the south of us. The concentration of wealth in the grasp of a few, has and is developing a power that, unless a halt is called, will inevitably lead to a more hopeless degradation of the workers than even at present exists. This power must be met by increased organization among the workers of the world. Oh, that its force could be realized among the many as it is practised by the few, as witness the power of organization of a few in the recent railway troubles among our American brethren. It seems scarcely possible, but yet too true that a few wealth owners could set at defiance all justice and reason asked for and fought for by the millions of workers, calling, at their will, the military and judicial forces of the United States. But, despite the reverses of such troubles, we can assuredly be certain of its effects on the future, bringing us a little nearer to the goal of equality of interests, so necessary to the general welfare of the masses.

In our Dominion we are thankful that the past year has not wrought upheavals with such dire results, bad enough though our position is.

In Ontario there have occurred events that should, and I am sure do, give much satisfaction and renewed hopes. I refer of course to the splendid fight and [illegible] of the efforts of the Bureau of Industry. The farmers of the province of Ontario, present to us a lesson of the effect of united action that I trust will have a salutary effect on, not only the rural residents of other provinces of the Dominion, but also with our urban population. The question of closer connection with our rural brothers will be considered by you at this session and I commend it to your most earnest consideration. While the usual promises, made to your executive committee by the cabinet of the Dominion government, resulted in the consummation of the establishment of a Dominion labor day, still we have to record again a general disregard to our requests. It behoves us to again and again knock at their doors until our just and reasonable demands are granted."

The address congratulates the Ontario government on the full and concise report issued by the Ontario bureau of industries, which contained much valuable information. It illustrated, said the president, most conclusively the utility of such a bureau and was an indisputable argument for the establishment of a similar bureau under the Dominion government.

The report of the executive committee among other things, says:

"Your committee would beg to recommend that the thanks of the congress be tendered to the Trades and Labor Councils of St. John's, N.B., Winnipeg, Man., and Victoria and Vancouver, B.C., for the active and energetic manner in which legislation in the interest of labor was handled in those various provinces.

"Your committee direct special attention to the fact that while the last session of the Dominion House of Commons was a protracted one, and that at its close his excellency the governor-general gave royal assent to one hundred and thirty-six different bills, which thereupon become law, yet of all these only three were of immediate interest to working people. These three measures were—one by the leader of the government, entitled 'An Act further to amend the law relating to Holidays,' which declares the first Monday in September in each year Labor Day, to be a legal holiday; a bill by Mr. William Mulock, M.P. for North York, compelling electric railways to provide suitable and sufficient shelter on cars for the employees and motormen employed thereon; and a bill by Sir Charles H. Tupper, minister of marine, providing for the better inspection of gear and tackle used in loading and unloading vessels."

The concluding paragraph is as follows:

"Your committee has again to report that, notwithstanding the direct promises of Sir John Thompson, nothing in the shape of parliamentary papers has been received during the past year for the use of your committee."

The treasurer's report showed a small surplus on hand.

At the proceedings to-day the following resolution, a synopsis of which I telegraphed the Times, was passed:

Delegate O'Donoghue moved and Delegate A. W. Holmes seconded this resolution:

"Resolved, that the expenditure of any public money, directly or indirectly, for the purpose of assisting, bonusing, encouraging or decoying emigrants of either or both the classes mentioned, adult or juvenile, from abroad to Canada is unnecessary and unjustifiable under [illegible] circumstances.

"Be it resolved further, that as a consequence of the existence of such a condition of the labor market in the Dominion of Canada, the existing unjust and misleading system of Dominion immigration, as well as like expenditure on the part of all provinces except British Columbia, should be abolished, and only those possessed of financial wealth should be encouraged to the country."

It was afterwards adopted.

Americans Driven From Bluefield Arrive at New York.

New York, Sept. 12.—[illegible] passengers on the steamer Adirondack, which arrived here to-day, from Port Limon September 3, were Charles E. Brown, Benjamin F. Allen and Henry B. Williamson, refugees from Bluefields. They are American citizens engaged in business at that port. Williamson says that they have had a very exciting time at Bluefields. Having learned through a friend that an order had been issued for their arrest, they proceeded up the river in a small boat and remained in concealment until August 30, when they managed to get aboard the United States cruiser Marblehead. On getting aboard that vessel Williamson stated to Capt. O'Neill that he had given no cause to the Bluefields authorities to warrant their arresting him, and would willingly go ashore and stand trial providing Capt. O'Neill would protect him. This Capt. O'Neill would not guarantee. The Marblehead was at Bluefields outside the bar. The cruiser Columbia sailed from Port Limon September 3 for Bluefields.

JAPANESE-COREA TREATY.

Relations Between the Two Powers Defined.

Washington City, Sept. 12.—A telegram was received at the Japanese legation yesterday afternoon stating that an important treaty had been negotiated between Corea and Japan which authoritatively defines the relations of the two countries toward each other and toward China.

The object of the treaty is stated in the preamble to be a mutual desire on the part of the emperor of Japan and the king of Corea to definitely determine and fix the attitude of each country toward the other, with a view to clearly elucidating the existing relations between Japan and Corea, which have been created by the request of the Corean government has made to the Japanese government to compel the Chinese to evacuate Corea. To secure concerted action for the more effective accomplishment of this object the treaty of alliance between the two countries was signed at Seoul August 26 by Oteri, the envoy of Japan, and the Corean minister of foreign affairs. Article 1 defines the object of the alliance, to be strengthened and perpetuated by the independence of Corea as an autonomous state and the promotion of the mutual interests of Japan and Corea by compelling the Chinese force to be withdrawn from Corea, and by obliging China to abandon her claim to the right to dominate the affairs of the country. Article 2 binds the Japanese government to carry on warlike operations against China, both offensive and defensive; the Corean government is bound by the article to afford the Japanese forces every possible facility in their movements, and to furnish them with supplies of provisions at a fair remuneration, so far as such supplies may be needed. By article 3 it is proposed that the treaty shall terminate as soon as a treaty of peace shall have been concluded by Japan with China.

Mr. Kurino, the Japanese minister, talked to an Associated Press reporter to-day regarding the new treaty between Japan and Corea. He said:

"We have nothing but the announcement of the treaty, but my inference from its terms is that it will prove highly advantageous to Corea. In Corea has existed, under Chinese auspices, the most corrupt system of government known. The constant intrigues of China have been a threat to the peace of the east. The Japanese government has desired the settlement of this question only for the peace of the east. It has been entirely without expectation of territorial aggrandizement or exercise of suzerainty over Corea. With the assurance of the autonomy to Corea, which is the design of this treaty, there will be an opportunity for great improvements in her system of government, international administration and other affairs. Already she has advanced from the condition of the rule of an individual influenced by China, and has a cabinet of six members and a prime minister to whom the ruler looks for advice and guidance. This change was made under the advice of the Japanese representative at Seoul."

Mr. Kurino said he did not think the treaty could be called a step toward a peaceful settlement with China, as China was tenacious on sentimental grounds of her claim of suzerainty. China might, he said, have put an end to the difficulties being settled now, by consent to some improvement in Corean affairs. Improvements in the government institutions in Corea, it would be admitted, would require foreign advisers and counselors, and these might be Japanese or might be other foreigners. He did not admit that the termination of the present treaty, by making peace with China, could open the way for a revival of Japan's old claim of suzerainty, which he said Japan had expressly relinquished, and would put herself in as bad a position as China by renewing. "Corea, under the inadequate government that China gives her," he said, "is weak, and other governments, such as Russia, are constantly threatening to come in and seize a portion of her territory and thus cause war in the east. A guarantee of he autonomy will guard against this. All the great powers will be interested together in protecting her from outside attack."

London, Sept. 12.—The morning Post will print this dispatch from Tokio: A treaty of alliance between Japan and Corea was signed at Seoul August 26. The first clause says that the object of the treaty is to accomplish the independence of Corea and to promote the common interests of Corea and Japan by expelling the Chinese troops from the peninsula. In the second clause Japan promises to operate against the Chinese forces, both offensively and defensively, and Corea pledges herself aid her with provisions and other means. The third clause says that the treaty will be operative during the present Chinese-Japanese war.

THE EASTERN WAR.

Movements of the Fleets and Armies in Corea.

Shanghai, Sept. 12.—Food and ammunition are said to be spoiling all along the route southward. As a result food is becoming very scarce in the Chinese army in Corea. The pretense of Chinese naval activity is absurd. The Japanese are said to be maintaining such a strict blocade of the Corean coast that not even the smallest vessel can get through. Hundreds of Chinese soldiers are said to have died of want and exposure, and much sickness is said to exist in all the ranks. On the other hand, the Japanese are much better prepared for active operations. They have succeeded in keeping their lines of communication open, and have pushed their forces forward until they are now threatening the Chinese flank. The position of the latter, with winter rapidly advancing, threatens to become untenable.

Orders were sent from Peking over a month ago for all the Chinese squadrons to concentrate in the Gulf of Pechili, but it appears that these orders were never carried out. Peremptory orders have now been given for three powerful vessels of the southern squadron to join Admiral Ting's fleet in the north. When these reinforcements arrive, it is asserted the Chinese fleet will commence operations in earnest against the Japanese. No confidence is felt, however, in Admiral Ting's ability to hold even the Gulf of Pechili against the Japanese fleet. Consequently many steamers belonging to Chinese firms are being transferred to the British flag.

Raising money for war purposes proceeds, and the Mandarins commanding provinces and districts are reported to be squeezing the unfortunate Chinese without mercy. Traders and others possessing property are receiving particular attention from the mandarins. Three hesitation about complying with the official demands had their property confiscated.

TROUBLE IN LOMBOK.

San Francisco, Sept. 12.—D. T. Timson, a graduate of Cambridge, England, who has been travelling for the past eight months, arrived here from Batavia, Java, yesterday in company with several friends. He says there is a violent insurrection of natives on the island of Lombok against the Dutch rulers. The native island king has joined forces with the natives and unitedly they are doing all they can to throw off the Dutch yoke. War is in actual progress. How many have been killed on each side is not known, but at the last engagement the Dutch forces were repulsed. In Batavia there was great excitement. "Everybody expected," said Timson, "that the revolution would spread, and it was believed the war might be a long and bloody one.

"A month ago, when I was there, communication was almost entirely cut off. The reason for this was that the Dutch government had seized all steamers and sailing vessels and pressed them into service. There was a single French boat running and on this I managed to get away. The Dutch were then collecting all their forces and forwarding them to the island as fast as possible. Up to the time I left Batavia they had sent six thousand from that port. The island is large and contains rich tin mines. It also produces a very large amount of coffee, sugar, indigo, fruits and other crops. It is very thickly populated."

Surprising Reduction in Dentistry Charges.

What is the use of paying $15 for a rubber plate when you can get a gold one for a few dollars more.

We will for one month from this date make a reduction of 50 per cent in gold plates. This is simply to introduce a genuine 20k gold plate to the people of Victoria.

This plate will last a lifetime and will never require repairing. People will wonder how we can do it, and probably think that inferior workmanship will be done, but we wish to dissuade you of any such notion. Our idea is to make a plate to please the public and get them to try us, consequently we must give an inducement. We will not make any money on these plates, but will feel assured that every plate we make will bring us others. Remember the price will remain as stated for one month only from September 1st to October 1st.

A CHARACTERISTIC DISPLAY.

The Nelson papers announce the return of Captain Fitzstubbs to the office of gold commissioner and government agent in that district. They also give a report of the investigation into the charges made against the captain before the Hon. Mr. Justice Crease, which we reproduce to-day. As to the evidence at the investigation we make no comment, since the matter is practically sub judice, further than to say that every person who notes Mr. Fitzstubbs' own admissions will be able to form an opinion as to that gentleman's fitness for the office he holds. But there is something remarkable in the action of the government in keeping an official in office while serious charges against him are the subject of an investigation. It is well known that the Davie government has practically no sense of decency, but it has never given stronger evidence of the fact than its treatment of the Fitzstubbs case.

A POOR POLICY.

The marked cordiality with which Mr. Laurier has been received and the display of enthusiastic Liberalism which his visit has called forth have evidently given our Conservative friends cause for serious perturbation. No one who has noted the character of the demonstrations can honestly conclude otherwise than that the prospect of the Liberal party, already bright, has been further improved by the visit of the leader and his friends. It is of course a consciousness of this fact that has led the Colonist and various members of its party into an attempt to shield themselves and their cause behind their favorite device of misrepresentation. They affect to regard Mr. Laurier's exposition of the Liberal policy as "indefinite" and unworthy of attention. It is in prosecution of the same plan that the Colonist presents to its readers this peculiar description of the visit to Nanaimo and the demonstration in the Liberal leader's honor there:

Nanaimo, Sept. 12.—Hon. Wilfred Laurier and party arrived here on the noon train from Victoria, and were met at the station by about a dozen members of the Reform club, the reception being absolutely of a funeral nature. There was not the slightest sign of enthusiasm. The lunch which followed a little later on at the Wilson hotel, was equally chilly. Not a single representative man had been invited, and it was plainly evident that Mr. Laurier felt keenly the lack of cordiality in his reception. In the afternoon the party drove down to Wellington, but no meeting was held there.

There are a great many people who know that this report is entirely false and misleading. It would be futile to reason with our neighbor on the want of honesty and morality involved in the distortion of facts for partizan purposes, but we may point out that the expediency is at least doubtful when the truth is so well known. It is within the knowledge of a multitude that the statements we have quoted are ridiculously false, and therefore that the falsification is worse than useless even from a party point of view.

WATER COMMISSIONER.

To the Editor:—I see that "Ald. Humphrey has given notice that he will move for the appointment of Mr. J. L. Raymur, city auditor, as water commissioner, and that his salary be increased to $150 per month." Now this is consistent, indeed. Mr. Wilmot was discharged because he could not find time to attend to the water works department, and it is only a short time since the auditor's salary was increased because he said it would take all his time to attend to the accounts. What we want is a good engineer, to give his whole attention to the water works. There is plenty to do in superintending the present plant, and looking after the expenditure of the $150,000 just voted by the ratepayers. This combining two or three positions in the one man has proved a failure, why try it again. Why this great hurry. The minutes of last meeting discharging Mr. Wilmot have not yet been adopted. The council should advertise for applications to fill this vacancy and give all a fair chance. RATEPAYER.

Several of those in the cast have ability far above the average amateur. The affair is in aid of the choir fund and many besides those in the congregation will patronize it.

NANAIMO NEWS.

Proposed Liberal-Conservative Association Falls Through.

Nanaimo, Sept. 13.—The movement to inaugurate a Liberal-Conservative Association here on last Tuesday night proved a miserable failure. It is stated that only one person turned up. This goes to show that Nanaimo is a Liberal stronghold and the schemes of the Conservative party to adopt half the name will not work.

It has been decided to hold the first agricultural show at Nanaimo on Saturday, the 29th inst. The exhibition will embrace dairy produce, vegetables, fruit, flowers, ladies' work, fine arts, etc. Live stock will not be placed on exhibition this year.

A reply has been received by Lieut.-Col. Peters, D.A.G., with regard to the reorganization of an infantry corps for Nanaimo, that Wellington has put in a prior claim, and that they offer a drill shed and armory while the city authorities of Nanaimo have refused to assist the matter in one way.

A mass meeting of the M. & M. L. P. A. of No. 1 lodge will be held to-morrow afternoon in the Co-operative Hall for the purpose of dealing with matters pertaining to this lodge.

JOSEPH LOUI DEAD.

The Indian Who Was Shot at Chemainus Dies This Morning.

Joseph Loui, the Indian who was accidentally shot at Chemainus on Monday night by Section Foreman Wilson, died at St. Joseph's Hospital this morning and his body now lies at Hanna's undertaking rooms. It will be taken to Chemainus to-morrow morning.

At Chemainus yesterday Wilson was charged with shooting Loui and was allowed out on his own recognizance by the magistrate. The negro who claimed to have been robbed by the Indians, was charged with supplying them with liquor. He was also allowed out on his own recognizance. The cases having become more serious, on account of the death of the Indian, Supt. Hussey has taken charge of them, they having previously been conducted by the local officers at Chemainus. He has received further particulars respecting the shooting. It now appears that the negro went to Wilson's cabin and reported that he had been robbed by Indians. The two started out to look for the Indians, Wilson taking his shot gun. They met at the railway crossing, a quarrel ensued and the gun went off, wounding the Indian, Loui, who died this morning.

A FEAST OF MUSIC.

The Cantata and Concert Given Last Evening in the First Presbyterian Church.

The large hall of the above church was filled to the door last night notwithstanding the so called hard times, the occasion being the performance of the cantata, "The May Queen," by the choir. Promptly at 8 o'clock the choir took their places on the platform followed by the soloists of the evening, Mrs. McCandless, Miss Wilson and Mr. Firth, Mrs. Hall presiding at the piano with Mr. Brown, the choir leader, as conductor. Space will not permit of an extended criticism of the work, but special mention must be made of a few of the numbers for the manner in which they were given. The opening chorus, Awake With a Song," was a delicious bit of bright tuneful singing, the attack good, in strict time and strict attention to the conductors requests for expression. The tenor recitation and solo, "Oh Meadow Clad in Early Green," was especially rendered by Mr. H. Firth who was in good voice, his phrasing and expression being faultless. With is enunciation and breathing improved Mr. Firth would be hard to improve upon among the tenors in this city. The chorus, "Oh Melancholy Plight," although fairly well rendered as a whole was a little ragged at times. Solos and chorus, "With a Laugh as we go Round," was the best piece of singing in the cantata. The rich soprano of Mrs. McCandless being heard to great advantage, her clear enunciation, faultless phrasing and expression being simply beyond criticism, indeed this applies to her singing throughout the evening. Mrs. McCandless has seldom been in better voice, her high C in the final chorus heard clear and ringing above the choristers. The duett between Mrs. McCandless and Mr. Firth was another delightful number, as was evident from the way the audience manifested their appreciation. "'Tis Jolly to Hunt," baritone solo by Mr. Brown, was a fine piece of singing, excellently suited to his rich voice and Mr. Brown made the most of it. The trio, "The Hawthorn in the Glade," by Mrs. McCandless, Mr. Firth, and Mr. Brown, was the gem of the evening and richly deserved the applause given at the close of the number. The chorus, "Ill Fated Boy Begone," was perhaps the best chorus in the performance. There was not the slightsest hesitancy throughout and the clear, bright, tuneful singing made the chorus one to be remembered. An instrumental prelude by Mrs. Hall was very much enjoyed and led up to the chorus, "Hark their notes the Hautboys Swell," which was very shakily rendered. Miss Wilson, as the "Queen" had not very much to do, but it was done well and shows her capabilities for a much heavier part. She has a mezzo soprano voice of fair compass and with training and larger experience will yet make her mark in musical circles; her enunciation was clear and plain, one of the first attributes of a good singer, and if a little nasal twang could be got rid of, it would help her very much. Mrs. McCandless' singing of the Appeal to Her Majesty was a perfect effort and could not be surpassed. Of the final chorus little can be said, except that it was on a par with the remainder of the work. The cause of music in Victoria will not be allowed to suffer so long as we have performances such as the "May Queen" by such an organization as the First Presbyterian choir, supported by such artists as Mrs. McCandless, Miss Wilson and Mr. Firth, and under the direction of such a capable conductor as Mr. J. G. Brown. The second part of the concert opened with a bright little part song, "The Fisherman," by the choir, which brought forth round after round of applause. Mrs. McCready, our best contralto, sang 'Tostis' "Good-Bye" like the artist she is, her every tone telling of cultivation and expression. No wonder that the audience recalled her. Mr. Collister, a rising singer, followed with that beautiful ballad "Farewell to Mona." Considering that this gentleman has but recently recovered from a severe illness, his effort was certainly meritorious. Miss Brown, another rising contralto, sang "The Old and the Young Marie" in a delightful manner, holding her audience enrapt till the close of her song. She is possessed of a pure contralto voice as was shown by her lower notes but without cultivation on her upper ones. Miss Wilson sang "Loch Lomond," that beautiful Scotch ballad, in such a style as to cause the audience to demand an encore but she did not respond. Mr. Brown then sang the "Diver," but did not sing with his old time vigor, owing perhaps to the heavy [illegible] work, although it was a meritorious performance. "The Comrades Song of Hope" by the choir was not on a par with the rest of this work during the evening, the voices evidently being tired out. "God Save the Queen" brought one of the most successful concerts ever given in Victoria to a close and added another wreath to the crown of laurels already gained by Mr. Brown and his choir.

CLEARING FOR ACTION.

To watch a ship's crew in the most exciting moment of clearing for action is to realize the value of discipline in its most perfect development—the result of the constant practice that gives faultless precision.

Whenever bugles sound the call and the boatswain's mate's pipe shrill echoes, the men, wherever they may be, whether on watch or asleep in thier hammocks, assemble at their allotted posts with marvellous celerity. There is a momentary trampling of feet between decks, a rattle of arms, and then silence so profound that any word of command can be distinctly heard fore and aft along the deck even of such a ship as the Repulse.

At the words "clear for action" there is a commotion which a landsman might mistake for a panic as men ruch from point to point. A bluejacket never walks when an order is given, but does everything at the double. Every one knows his station, and goes to it by the quickest and shortest way. With rapidity that seems wonderful companion ladders, with their ponderous gangways, are unshipped and stowed away; railings around the lower decks fore and aft are lowered; the ventilating cowls and chimney stacks disappear, to be replaced with covers flush with the deck; hatches are battened down, water-tight doors closed, and tackle rigged for hoisting ammunition from the magazine. Between decks everywhere something of the same kind is being done as quickly and as quietly, and then the men stand to their guns. When the bugles sound for firing to commence, the great barbette turntables revolve slowly, turned by unseen power, and the quick-firing guns in main deck batteries are worked with surprising celerity by detachments of the Royal Marine Artillery.—London Daily News.

Miscellany.

There comes a good story from Monte-Carlo that holy of holies, the same wherein are the trente et quarente tables. Just as the cards were being shuffled for the commencement of the play, a gentleman deliberately counted out 12 1000 franc notes and placed them on the black without even taking the precaution of assuring them. "It is playing the limit," as a bystander remarked.

"Rather a bold play, sir."

"Well," said the player, "I dreamed last night that I saw this table exactly as it is now, and on the first coup black won."

The cards were dealt for the first coup and black won. A suppressed "Oh!" from the bystanders greeted the announcement. "Red loses," then from across the table came a woman's voice.

"What did you have for supper last night? Do tell me?"

BRITISH COLUMBIA DAY.

Tacoma, Sept. 13.—Special days are what the population of the Interstate Fair city is interested in just now. There have been many of them in the past two weeks, and they have been very successful. The concessionaries have found them nice things to have and more are being arranged every day. September 22 is to be a great day at the fair. It is then that the British cousins of the Yankee originators of the fair are to be here. It is to be British Columbia day and indications are that a considerable portion of the population of Canada's fairest province will be on hand. Excursions from Vancouver and Victoria will be run. Already several thousand tickets of admission have been contracted for by the transportation companies running the excursions. Altogether British Columbia day promises to stand not even second to the great celebration of Seattle and Tacoma day.

October 4 is to be another great day. The management has fixed it as Portland's day and a big attendance from Oregon's metropolis is expected. A special programme has been arranged for the occasion. Three other notable events fall on the same day. They are the Elks and Athletic days and the closing of the G. A. R. week. In the evening there is to be a Grand Army parade on the grounds. Floats representing historical subjects will be in the procession and the scene will be illuminated by a pyrotecnic display. A series of field sports have been arranged for the athletes. Prizes will be awarded in all the contests. In the programme is included boxing and wrestling matches.

The Elks say their celebration is to be the biggest, the best and the grandest of all. They are even going to outdo the Hoo-Hoos who owned the fair and the adjacent country Monday. San Francisco, Oakland, Portland and many other lodges will be represented by large delegations.

A considerable display of manufactured goods, fabrics, etc., from the Orient for the foreign department of the fair arrived on the last China steamer and is now being installed. The special bonding privilege granted by the government to foreign exhibitors is being taken advantage of by many importing houses, who are putting in beautiful and unique displays.

The agricultural and horticultural building is being rapidly filled and exhibits for it are arriving every day. Growers held back for a time so that they might get in this years' products. Now they are shipping with a rapidity that keeps the employees in the building jumping to get them placed.

The plaisance has received a number of additions lately. It is a whole fair in itself at present and attracts much attention.

UNITED STATES DANGERS.

London, Sept. 13.—T. P. O'Connor, the noted Irish member of parliament and journalist, has written a final chapter of his views and ideas concerning America, and which have attracted attention throughout England and the continent. Among other things he says:

"There is a danger in American society which struck me long ago—even during that first visit when I was so little apt to criticise. In some cities, in the west especially, I was positively appalled by the stories of the families of the rich; I have never seen a race that appeared to me so hopeless, worthless and fore-doomed, as the children of American millionaires. This, of course, is by no means a universal—I would not go anything like the length of saying it is a general—rule, but it often occurs. We are beginning to know this type of American in Europe. He is sometimes a wanderer over the earth; and though he may be a dilettante, a hypochondriac, and an idler, he is generally a man of cultivation, refinement and an exquisiteness of manners which puts to shame even the best bred men of English-speaking societies. Sometimes the son of a millionaire does us the honor to settle among us in England, and then he becomes a more thorough seeker after idle pleasures than anything one can produce outside of our social wrecks, and is more distinguished—he, the child of a republic—by a contempt for popular rights and public duties, than the most courtly Conservative of our native growth. I do not know which is the more depressing or the more perilous symptom in American life—the absorption in political affairs of the needy and the disreputable, or the exclusion from all political interest and sympathy and sense of duty of so many of the rich.

"One of the first things that struck me with astonishment in America was the manner in which railways were allowed to run through the streets. We used to have level crossings in England in abundance—we have far too many now—but we draw a line at a point which the Americans go far beyond. It is quite common there to see a train go right through the midst of the main streets of a populous city. The train, it is true, rings a horrid bell, the noise of which makes life a terror and nightmare to anyone accustomed to the comparative quiet of London; but the principle is that everyone must look out for himself. It used to make me shudder to see the trains passing one after another, with all the life of a busy and central street on either side of the track. When I have made some remarks on this and kindred topics to Americans I have always got the answer—half serious, half defiant—that in America human life was not much valued. And, indeed, at the bottom of the American mind—especially in the west—there is a certain desperateness of spirit—a readiness to take awful risks and mortal chances—the genesis of which would take me far out of my way at this moment to discuss; but it is a spirit which takes away from life that sacro-sanctity which it has in our older civilizations.

"One word finally. The constitution of the United States is, in my opinion, one of the most unjustly eulogised instruments of political history. The gentlemen who constructed it were possessed of the ideas of checks and balances—a fatal and falacious figure that has worked mighty mischief in the world—that they constructed a machine which to a large extent means not the regulation, but the paralysis of government. This is what reformers in America have begun to find out. It is nothing short of besotted and perilous optimism either to ignore or to extenuate the evils from which the country is suffering. As one who loves America much—who loves the American people better than those of any other nationality—I feel I am doing a duty to the country and the people by helping, even in a small way, to call attention to the wrong-doing which is so triumphant in a nation, and under institutions which every reformer in the world considers the cause of human hopes and human progress is inextricably bound up."

STOLE A MILLION.

Wild Cat Schemes in Which Many Invested.

New York, Sept. 12.—A man was arrested in this city yesterday who, it is asserted, has made in the neighborhood of $1,400,000 by getting men to invest in remarkable land schemes. His victims are scattered all over the country. One was the Rev. George Stanbery, an Episcopalian clergyman, from whom he secured about $30,000. Mr. Stanbery was formerly of Lexington, Ky. Algernon H. Wilcox is the name of the promoter. He made his headquarters in Philadelphia. The methods of his operations were similar in each case. He bought western property of little or no value, organized companies with an exaggerated capital stock and sold this stock to suitable investors. He captured Wall street men and Long Island farmers. He drew heavily upon the carefully hoarded savings of New Englanders. No fewer than thirty clergymen are among his victims. The action upon which Wilcox was arrested was brought by Charles N. Codding, a lawyer at No. 29 Broadway, and Phileman B. Stanbery, as administrator of the estate of the Rev. Mr. Stanbery. They have been following Wilcox since June. The Rev. Mr. Stanbery was the son of Henry Stanbery, who was the attorney-general of the United States in President Johnson's cabinet. When Johnson was impeached Stanbery resigned his office and helped to defend Johnson. Of the many companies which Wilcox organized he persuaded the Rev. Mr. Stanbery to invest in four. The Queen City Syndicate, which was formed to buy and handle a tract of about 150 acres about three quarters of a mile from the hamlet of Winfield, Kansas, the Prudential Real Estate and Trust Co., Wilcox's Superior Syndicate and the Wilcox Specific Medicine Co., were Mr. Stanbery's investments. While Wilcox really secured about $30,000 from the Rev. Mr. Stanbery, there was only about $11,500 obtained in a manner which would permit of criminal proceedings against the promoter, hence the other claims are not mentioned in the action. The assets of the Prudential and Real Estate Co. consisted of a tract of land near Benson, Swift county, Minn., originally 179 acres in extent, and the other a quarter section at Minot, Ward county, North Dakota. Wilcox had another land scheme near Superior. In January, 1891, he bought a tract of land just outside the southern boundary line of Superior, and conceived the plan of disposing of it at a large profit to a syndicate of investors. The Rev. George Stanbery died in this city in July, 1893, having removed here from Lexington a short time before. When an investigation of the affairs of his estate was made his dealings with Wilcox were discovered. After a thorough investigation the administrators decided to take action against him, but he eluded arrest until to-day.

The firms implicated are the Canada Jute company, the Consumers' Cordage company and the Dominion Bag company. These companies have been asked to hand over all the invoices of goods imported by them during the last six years. The charge preferred is that for three years or longer these firms have been importing free of duty partly manufactured jute, known as "uncream Hessian," from Dundee, Scotland, upon which there is a duty of 20 per cent. It is claimed that the duty accruing to the government in three years would be $50,000, besides penalties of another $50,000.

KOOTENAY NUGGETS.

Nelson Miner

H. Drewry left Nelson on Thursday for his camp on the mountains opposite Balfour. Photography during August was not possible, but his party have completed about 400 square miles this year and expect to survey a further area of one thousand miles this season, including the country between Crawford Bay and the St. Mary's river and at and around Ainsworth.

It is understood that C. W. Busk has purchased Bob Yuill's ranch for two thousand dollars and that he will put in orchards and small fruits there, Balfour sand being too light.

The last clean-up on the Cariboo, Camp McKinney, was the result of 19 days' run and realized between nine and ten thousand dollars. The bullion went to Spokane.

Mr. Hamilton Byers has acquired control of the business of the Byers Hardware Company and will shortly open up on a large and extensive scale the finest line of hardware ever seen at Three Forks.

Nelson Tribune.

R. A. Fraser returned to Nelson on Friday from New Denver. He reports the end of the track on the Nakusp & Slocan railway still midway between New Denver and Wilson creek, and the reason the railway men give for the delay is that the supply of spikes is run out. Considerable building is under way at both New Denver and Three Forks; but at the former place great difficulty is had in getting lumber. The sawmill at Three Forks is running full time, but as there is no road between Three Forks and New Denver, and not likely to be one, the New Denver market is closed against the mill. No effort is being made to build Bear Lake City, and but little to rebuild Watson.

Sir Joseph Trutch of Victoria, and R. Day, of Cork, Ireland, arrived at Nelson this week. The former is president of the Hall Mines, Limited, and the latter is a shareholder in the company. It is not likely that their visit will result in any change of management at the Silver King mines, or in any radical change in the present methods of working the properties of the company.

Another of the Slocan claims whose worth is being proved by work is the Last Chance, which adjoins the World's Fair, one of the Noble Five group. It is owned by E. H. Tomlinson, of Butte, Montana. An incline is down on the vein about 30 feet, and in running that distance a carload of shipping ore has been mined, which will go 200 ounces of silver and 70 per cent. lead to the ton. Work will be continued on the property.

The messenger of the Northern Pacific Express company reports being robbed of $219 at Kaslo on Monday last. The money was stolen from his stateroom on the steamer Nelson.

D. W. McVicar, the Nova Scotian who is operating in the Ainsworth district, is reported as being after the Skyline mine, which has been idle for two years, although it is believed to be a good property. The owners are said to be willing to part with it for $100,000. The Nova Scotians have the money to buy what they want, and the grit to work any property they may buy. It is to be hoped Mr. McVicar will get hold of a mine; and if the Skyline, all the better.

AGENT FITZSTUBBS.

Investigation of the Charges by the Hon. Pustice Crease.

The investigation of the charges preferred against Captain Fitzstubbs by John Sanderson was held by Mr. Justice Crease this afternoon in the court house at Nelson. Neither Captain Fitzstubbs nor Mr. Sanderson were allowed the assistance of counsel. John Sanderson testified that he was employed as foreman on the Nakusp & Slocan trail in July, 1892, and that when the payroll for the month of August, 1892, was made up, he, at the request of Mr. Fitzstubbs, added the name of William Smith to the payroll, and that Fitzstubbs drew a check for the amount and placed it in his pocket. The reason that Fitzstubbs gave for doing so was that the government did not allow him anything for his travelling expenses and he had to do these things to keep even. On cross-examination Sanderson denied that he signed Smith's name to the voucher; that he merely certified to the correctness of the payroll. He admitted that he knew it was not right; but did not know at the time that the government paid the travelling expenses of its officials, and only learned differently when he saw the published statement that the officials had been paid large sums for travelling expenses.

As regards the Lardo trail part of the investigation, Sanderson testified positively that he had given no instructions as to the amount to be expended, and that when he met Fitzstubbs at the latter's office Fitzstubbs objected to the amount that had been expended, but only because it prevented him (Sanderson) from putting names on the payroll, so that Fitzstubbs could reimburse himself for the three or four hundred dollars he had spent when at Victoria the winter before. That it could not have been done now on account of Goepel having made the time out, and if he knew it he would be trying the same game, as he is one of them smart rascals.

Sanderson was asked by Mr. Justice Crease, if he did not know that specific sums were appropriated for certain works, like that of the Lardo trail, and Sanderson answered that he did not, and, said further, that Mr. Fitzstubbs had never instructed him as to the amount set apart for that particular work.

Captain Fitzstubbs testified that he employed Sanderson as foreman on the Nakusp & Slocan trail; that he told Sanderson to add the name of William Smith to the payroll; that he issued a check for the amount; that he used the amount of the check to reimburse himself for amounts that he had paid out of his own pocket for work done on the government reserve at Nelson.

Question by Mr. Justice Crease: "How did you come to insert William Smith's name on your payroll?" Mr. Fitzstubbs answered: "I went to pay off the work on the Nakusp & Slocan trail. After paying the men I told Sanderson that I had been doing some work on the government reserve, and that I had already spent over $00 on it; give me some time on the payroll, in order that I may repay myself for what I have paid out. He (Sanderson) said, 'How much do you want?' I said, 'Forty or fifty dollars from this trail, as it is not costing a great deal.' I said, 'Put another name on.' Then he (Sanderson) asked what name. I said, 'Any name—William Smith.' Then he (Sanderson) said again, 'How much do you want? You had better take enough while you are about it.' I looked at the payroll and saw that $75 was the highest on the payroll, and it could not be for any more than that. He signed William Smith's name, and I drew the check for $75."

Question by Mr. Justice Crease: "Then that was for work done for government account for which there was no appropriation." Mr. Fitzstubbs answered. "Yes."

Question by Mr. Justice Crease: "Who did you employ for that kind of work?" Mr. Fitzstubbs answered: "Bunker, McIntyre and Lane."

Question by Mr. Justice Crease: "How did you employ them?" Mr. Fitzstubbs answered: "Bunker was employed digging the ground, laying out beds, and fixing the fence."

Question by Mr. Justice Crease: "Why did you not make a separate voucher and sent it down to the government, saying that you had been obliged to exceed the appropriation and asking that it be allowed on the supplimentaries?" Mr. Fitzstubbs answered: "I knew the general objection the government made when appropriations were exceeded; and that year the government had voted Nelson a large sum, and I did not think they would allow it."

Fitzstubbs put in a general denial to all of Sanderson's versions of the conversations that had taken place between them regarding adding names to payrolls and also stated positively that he had instructed Sanderson not to spend more than $700 on the Lardo trail.

Affidavits of Angus McIntyre and John Lane were read. They were both dated at Kaslo, April 11th, 1894. To McIntyre's was attached a bill for hauling sixteen loads of soil for Mr. Fitzstubbs' garden, $16. Lane's was for "hauling thirty-five loads of manure at Nelson, B. C., for Captain Fitzstubbs, $40." Mr. Bunker testified that he was paid $28 for work done for Mr. Fitzstubbs in May and June, 1892, and $13.50 for work done in 1893.

R. J. Bealey testified that he went up the Lardo trail on the 24th or 25th of June, 1893, and that Eldrige's men were not at work. It was raining a little; they certainly did not quit work for a quarter of a day; but the time book showed that they got full time. Mr. Justice Crease will make his report to the lieutenant-governor.—Nelson Tribune.

FOR A STEEL PLANT.

As a result of the recent conference between J. P. Witherow of Pittsburg and the city council, Ald. Ledingham has posted the following notice of motion:

"Whereas the raw materials for the manufacture of iron and steel have been shown to exist in abundance and under favorable conditions for profitable manufacture in Vancouver Island;

"And whereas it would greatly increase the commercial improtance of the city of Victoria and would otherwise benefit the inhabitants thereof if a first class plant for the manufacture of iron and steel billets were to be established in or near the city;

"And whereas the government of Canada is authorized by an act passed on the 23rd day of July, 1894, to pay a bounty of $2 per ton on all pig iron made in Canada from Canadian ore, a bounty of $2 per ton on all iron puddled bars made from such pig iron, and a bounty of $2 per ton on all steel billets made in Canada from such pig iron;

"And whereas J. P. Witherow has undertaken to organize a company in London with a capital stock of $3,000,000 for the purpose of establishing and operating a plant at some convenient point in British Columbia;

"Be it therefore resolved that if a company is organized with a capital of $3,000,000, and at least half of such capital is subscribed for, and if the company shall have expended to the satisfaction of the mayor and two persons to be nominated by the City Council the sum of $...,000 in acquiring a site and commencing to build a plant in or near Victoria for the manufacture of iron and steel billets, with a capacity of not less than 50,000 tons per annum, that the council will cause a by-law to be submitted to the ratepayers to authorize the city to guarantee the interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum on the company's bonds to the extent of $1,000,000, for a period of twenty years, such guaranteed bonds to be issued from time to time as the work progresses, and to be secured by a charge on the assets of the company and the bounties available from the Canadian government, or otherwise to the satisfaction of the council."

ACCIDENT TO THE QUEEN.

An Interesting Account of the Accident and the Trip.

Gen. John H. Bryant, receiver of the Seattle Coal and Iron Company, Mrs. Bryant, Miss Katharine Bryant, and Miss Marie Kaumpff, of New York, who left here on August 21 for a trip to Alaska on the steamer Queen, have returned to the city, says the Seattle P.-I. General Bryant last evening gave an interesting account of the accident which befell the steamer and the manner in which the passengers enjoyed themselves while repairs were being effected. He said:

"While going north one night the weather was very foggy and the steamer ran on a rock at Gordon Point, on Cormorant island, between Alert Bay and Fort Rupert. One of the plates was smashed in and the steamer, the forward compartment filling with water, stuck there. The next morning all the freight forward was shifted aft, a lot of coal was cast overboard, the anchors were cut loose and placed on floats and, after two days, the vessel floated and Capt. Carroll ran her into Alert Bay and beached her. The chief engineer made a diagram of the break and then, securing one of the reserve plates on board, set to work between tides to repair the damage. A lot of Indians were employed to assist, while the entire crew was assigned to give undivided attention to the comforts, wants and pleasures of the passengers. The bay is one of the prettiest places I was ever in. It is a veritable garden. The sailors rowed us about or took us around the county in steam launches. We had a delightful time; it was a picnic for everyone of us, and the week I spent at Alert Bay will not soon be forgotten. Fishing tackle was furnished us and, in fact, we had everything a human being could possibly desire to ask for. On shore we visited old missions, attended Indian dances in the evening and at all times enjoyed the woods, the wild scenes and the sea breeze. The weather was simply perfect.

"When the forward compartments in the vessel were filled with water the ice stock was demolished and the meat on board was thrown away in the course of a day or two. But Capt. Carroll saw that no one went hungry. He sent up on the Mimish river and bought three fine steers and some sheep. The animals were slaughtered and the larder replenished. After a week at Alert Bay the new plate was put in so well that not a drop of water was admitted. The Queen then sailed north. From Sitka we went to Juneau, then to Douglas island and visited the Treadwell Mining company's plant. Thence we went to Kilsuhos and Kantehoo, visiting the canneries, and all points of interest at each place. I have great faith in Alaska, and believe that her fishing industries are the smallest part of her resources; her mineral, I believe, will soon claim the attention of the world. As an American I think it is a bad thing to be compelled to go through a man's garden to get to one's farm. The country between Alaska and Washington should belong to this country, and I believe we will have a president some day who will attend to this matter.

"Capt. Carroll and his officers deserve a great deal of credit for the skilfull and patient manner in which they cared for the comforts of the passengers. Of course there are those who will complain at all times, and a few such were on board, but before the trip was finished their complaints were turned to praises. At Sitka we were much interested in the Greek church, St. Michael's, which is being repaired. We were shown about by the custodian, George Kistrometinoof. The paintings and medallons were beautiful to behold. One picture of the holy family, called the 'Mother and Child,' the church has declined to sell for $20,000. The 'Baptism of Christ' is also a beautiful work of art. I examined this painting closely and was unable to find the trace of a brush. These elaborate ornaments and beautiful fixtures were brought from Moscow 85 years ago and were donated by the royal families and nobility of Russia. The majority of the paintings were over 100 years old when brought to Sitka and were painted by reputable artists of Germany, Italy and Russia."

Zanzibar, Sept. 12.—Mr. Beasley and Rev. Mr. Firminger, who reached Dar-es-Salaam, German East Africa, in a dhow from Kilwa island September 9, have arrived here and report that the governor's house at Kilwa was attacked by 2,000 natives armed with flintlock rifles on September 7. The fight lasted two hours, when the natives were repulsed with a loss of 100 killed. One Soudanese soldier was killed and one German wounded. When Messrs. Beasley and Firminger left the island a renewal of the attack was expected.

London, Sept. 12.—A dispatch from Paris says: "Montevideo advices of Sept. 11 says that fifty-eight Brasilians were executed last spring at President Peixoto's order, without the semblance of a trial. They were arrested on April 21, and were executed on the morning of April 29 at the fortress of Santa Cruz, the harbor of St. Catarina. An even larger number of respectable citizens had been shot under similar circumstances in Curityba. Throughout the month of May volleys were heard nightly in the cemetery, where the bodies were immediately buried.

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 129 pounds; I now can weigh 150 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a traveling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."

cause our parliament to bring forth such a tariff abortion as has just been inflicted upon the people of the United States. We beg to express a hope also that the members of a Liberal government will devote some part of their energies to the solution of the financial questions of the day and take into their serious consideration the establishment of a bi-metallic legal tender currency in Canada. We note in the British North America Act that one of the powers of the Dominion government is the issue and control of coinage. We regret that no government since confederation, Liberal or Conservative, has seen fit to act up to its power in this respect and we consider that the establishment of a Canadian mint, while adding to the industries of the country and being a saving if not a source of profit to the government, would add greatly to the credit of the Dominion and would put financial questions more completely under Dominion control. In case sir you or your colleagues see fit to take this matter into consideration we would respectfully submit the claims of our province, one of the world's principal sources of supply for gold and silver, as the most fit and proper place for the establishment of a Canadian mint. There are other matters sir of provincial or local importance that we hope to bring to your notice before your departure, but we here mention but two others. Our judicial system was modelled after and intended to be similar to that of your own Province of Ontario, with exception of Districts and a resident Superior Court judge in each. It has come to pass that at present, contrary to the spirit and letter of our Supreme Court Act, all the Supreme Court judges but one have established their residence at Victoria, and suitors living in other parts of the province are put to serious expense and delay in going to Victoria or waiting till an assize to have their cases decided. We beg to suggest that this state of affairs could be remedied by the appointment of District Superior Court judges and the establishment of a distinct Appeate Court at Victoria. And we have further to request sir that when and so soon as it be in your power to cause a readjustment of the tariff, you cause an offer to be made to the United States government of reciprocity in raw materials generally and that in particular you make a special effort to secure reciprocity in coal. And now sir we again bid you a most hearty welcome and mean it none the less when we say we hope this will be your last visit to us as leader of the Opposition, for we trust before another year goes by to hail you premier of the Dominion of Canada. On behalf of the Club,

T. R. E. McINNES,
President.
J. E. McKENZIE,
Secretary.

Mr. Laurier in reply said he felt very proud of the sentiments of the address and prouder still of the manner in which they were received by the splendid audience. To British Columbia he gave first rank of all the provinces he visited, but he believed that the good wishes expressed towards him were rather the outcome of the good feelings the people entertained for the party to which he had the honor to belong and which had been named by their opponents as the Grits, a name which they accepted with a great deal of honor, as it was without doubt that the Liberal party had far more grit in them than their opponents. (Hear, hear.) Mr. Laurier dwelt on the fact that when the Conservative government dissolve parliament this time, they will no doubt seal their own doom; although he believed that an election may be as uncertain as a cock fight or a horse race, still there was always a better horse than any others in the race, and this time he would recommend that they lay their money on the Grit horse. (Cheers.) The watchword of the Liberal party was freedom, and to the efforts of the Liberal party belonged the credit of any freedom we possess now. (Cheers.) Every man is free in matters of religion, and this is a victory due to the Liberal party. (Applause.) The amount of civil freedom which we enjoy to-day is also the result of the efforts of Bright and Gladstone. (Great cheers.) The Liberals in this country have a task to perform, although he might say that British Columbia is more advanced in religious tolerance than any other province in the Dominion. (Cheers.) We have not to fight for civil freedom, but with all this liberty we in this country have yet to fight for the freedom of trade which 50 years ago was settled in England. The speaker in eloquent terms went into a condemnation of the evils of protection, which was meant only to put the money of one subject into the hands of a fellow subject, which was a crime—robbery and nothing else. (Applause.) In this connection he dwelt on the duty on mining machinery, without which the miners of the district around them could not be developed. The statement made that machinery of kinds not manufactured in Canada is said to be free, but the statement was untrue, as the unfortunate purchaser has to pay the duty in any case and this is called protection. (Laughter.) That is not the way to make a nation out of this country. It was a pure case of skinning the west by the east, but the west had had but a poor chance of skinning the east. (Applause.) Mr. Laurier detailed the mockery at tariff reform by the Conservative government last year, which was so shamefully abandoned. It was too late now to hope for any measure of reform from men who believe that taxation is but a means of enriching the people. Rather trust the men who believe in reform, who believe that protection is the companion of corruption. He was not a prophet, but from the indications which came before his notice, he would venture to state that the days of protection are over. (Cheers.) We had been told that England is the only nation that is free trade, but he would tell them that the example of England was to him more than all the rest of the world. (Cheers.) Let the Conservatives go to America or other protective countries for their models, but the Grits would go to England for their example. (Cheers.) What is wanted in British Columbia is a market for our fish, ores, minerals and lumber, and without that British Columbia will not prosper. The United States is the natural market for British Columbia, and with that market opened to them by free trade the people of both countries would be all the richer for the boon. But the two countries were prevented by the jingoes in both places. The American jingoes say they will not give reciprocity to Canada because it will prevent the annexation of Canada to the States, and the jingoes of Canada say they will not have reciprocity with the United States because it will lead to annexation. (Laughter.) Now, if we get reciprocity and the Conservatives will undertake to be responsible for the allegiance of their party, he would undertake to be responsible for the Grits. (Cheers.) If they will be able to resist the temptations of the Yankee, he would answer for the fidelity of the Grits to the British flag. (Great cheering.) And even after that, if the Conservatives are weak in their allegiance as to be carried away into allegiance to the United States, the Grits will take care of those poor Conservatives and save them from committing such a crime. (Renewed cheering.) As soon as we shall have Liberal administration at Ottawa they will send a delegation to Washington to negotiate for reciprocity; and he believed we should have it; but if we are to get it the expense of one jot of the dignity of Canada he would refuse it. (Cheers.) However, he had no fear of any such thing. (Renewed cheering). The fearful catalogue of misappropriations, boodling and corruption, was placed before the audience, who listened with astonishment to the story as it was unfolded to them and the scathing denunciation of such practices, by the speaker, was received with great cheering. "It is not enough," said Mr. Laurier, "to have good institutions; we must have the purposes of honesty with them." He came before them with an honest heart, not as a puritan, but determined before God and men to do his best to bring about good government in this country, and with these feelings, he would ask might he not expect the support of the people. (Great cheers and cries of "Yes!")

Hon. Mr. Fraser, in an eloquent declaration on the duty of patriotism, was listened to with wrapt attention, especially in his fervid description of the grand scenery and resources of British Columbia. But with all these great valued gifts of the Creator, and with fifteen years of the panacea of the national policy, there was something wrong in the fact that we have only 70,000 or 80,000 people in such a province. Something is wanting, and that is more people. He would rather have one hundred men owning $1,000 worth of property than one man worth $100,000, because we have those one hundred men with their families supporting stores, churches and schools. Selfishness will never build up a nation. Feed up a few by acts of parliament and they will look after the workingman—they will, won't they? (Laughter). Why, the working man was looked upon as a sort of pauper—(cheers)—who must be propped up by government-kept people; such a thing was an insult to labor—(cheers)—which needs nothing but the fullest and freest scope for the exercise of its powers. The Tories, of course, had their last resort, the old cry of loyalty, but he would warn them that the man who is loudest in his professions of religion and honesty is usually the man least to be trusted (applause); it is the same with all these loyalty shouters. A man can best show his loyalty to his queen and country by making his home more comfortable and his farm more snug than by shouting his devotion to his country on the sidewalk. That man, who says nothing in times of peace can be depended upon to shed his blood if need be in time of strife. Mr. Fraser's handling of the hoodlers and the farcial attempt made to punish Connelly and McGreevy was greeted with roars of laughter, but there were also loud cries of "Shame!" at the conduct of the government in this matter. One of the most eloquent speeches of this eloquent speaker was concluded by a warm reference to the treatment his leader and his companions had received in British Columbia. They had been told that the people of this province had no place in their hearts for Liberals; well, he was agreeably disappointed in this matter, for not only had the people taken them to their homes, but they had also taken them to their hearts, and what was a still more agreeable surprise, he had found that the majority of the Conservatives here, though voting protection, were at heart free-traders because they saw it was to their interest to have free trade in this country. It was only the personality of their representatives which got them into parliament. Now, that wasn't the way to do business, and he felt confident that the people of British Columbia had committed that mistake for the last time. He sincerely trusted that on the evening of the next election day we in the west would join hands across the Rockies with the people of the east and be able to tell each other that they had returned men to power whose mission it would be to pull down those barriers of protection which are keeping the people from their rightful inheritance, and build up the country by enabling them to trade with the whole world as the great mother land, England, is doing. (Great cheers).

Mr. Laurier rose to state that he had received a letter from the Royal Templars of Temprance asking him what the Liberal party would do in the matter of prohibition if returned to power. Three years ago, he said, the Conservative government appointed a commission on this question; a sum of about $100,000 had been expended on the enquiry, but there had so far been no result. (Laughter). Now, this question had engaged the attention of the Liberal party at their convention last year in Ottawa, and it was then decided that if the party were returned to power at the next election, they would pledge themselves to take a plebiscite of the whole of Canada to find out whether or no the people wanted prohibition. He would repeat that now and promised that if the Canadian people entrusted the party with their confidence, the pledge would be faithfully carried out.

This closed the meeting, but it was another half hour or more before Mr. Laurier could leave the building, the majority of the vast crowd being so eager to shake the Liberal leader's hand.

The party this morning went to Vancouver to begin their journey eastward.

The match is shot of distances from 200 to 500 yards, the contestants representing the various regiment, cavalry troops and artillery batteries of the state. The trophy which is presented by the state is of the value of $300. New York is the only state in the union thus encourages its National Guard to excel in rifle practice.

SENIOR CHAMPIONSHIP.

On Saturday the Victoria senior team goes to Vancouver to cross sticks with the Terminal city men. The members of the team are practising every evening and working hard to get themselves into trim. To win the championship they have to beat Vancouver twice and Westminster once, which they will try hard to do.

THE RING.

WELTER WEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 13.—Considerable interest is manifested in sporting circles east and west in the meeting to-night before the St. Joseph Athletic Club, of Tommy Ryan of Chicago, and Billy Layton, who will come together for twenty rounds. The match will be for a purse of $2,500 and a side bet of $1,500 and will decide the welter weight championship of the world. Both men have been training hard and are in first class condition. A large number of sports from Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and other points are here. The latest encounter of Ryan was at Minneapolis where he bested Billy Smith, while Layton's last appearance in the ring was at Des Moines where he licked George La Blanche, the "Marine." Ryan's fistic record is a notable one, while Layton has won fifty-seven battles and has met and bested a score or more of good men in addition. The men will meet at catch weights, and it is rigidly provided by the articles that a decision must be rendered at the conclusion of the twentieth round on the showing made if both men are on their feet. Small gloves will be worn. Tommy Tracy of St. Louis will challenge the winner. A good deal of betting has been done with Ryan a heavy favorite. Dan Creedon has put $1,500 on Ryan.
